

WOULD NOT ACCEPT BIG FOREIGN LOAN

Failure of Confederacy Due Chiefly to Inefficient Civil Government.

ADDRESS BY JUDGE CLARK

Criticizes Legislature for Not Providing Funds for Trip to Gettysburg.

General Julian S. Carr and Major Hamilton Engage in First Fight

Durham, N. C., May 10.—A sensational incident featured Memorial Day exercises here, when General Julian S. Carr, millionaire tobaccoist, and division commander of the United Confederate Veterans, and Major Hamilton, commander of the Webb Camp of Confederate Veterans in Durham County, engaged in a fist fight in the courthouse. It seems that trouble between General Carr and Major Hamilton grew out of difference of opinion concerning the line of march for the veterans. Following a meeting of the veterans, at which Major Hamilton presided, General Carr ordered the major under arrest. After the fight General Carr picked up Major Hamilton's glasses, and handing them to the major, reminded him that he was still under arrest. The men later "made up."

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Greensboro, N. C., May 10.—Memorial Day exercises here today were deeply impressive, an unusually large number of veterans turning out. The service was under the auspices of Guilford chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy. More than 200 veterans were taken in automobiles to the cemetery, where the soldiers' graves were strewn with flowers. Returning to the auditorium, a very brief address was delivered by Chief Justice Walter Clark, the youngest adjutant in the war.

In the course of his address Judge Clark criticized the legislature for not providing funds to transport former Confederates to the Gettysburg celebration, saying that the State of Indiana had provided transportation and food both for Union and Confederate soldiers now living there. He also strongly advocated the government paying pensions to ex-Confederate soldiers, declaring that North Carolina for years has been taxed $5,000,000 annually to pay Federal pensions, and it was time some of this money was devoted to the relief of her old soldiers or their widows.

Speaking of the cause of failure, he said that the inefficient civil government of the Confederate States was the chief one. He declared that when commissioners were sent to Europe to negotiate a loan of $15,000,000, they reported they could get a loan of $200,000,000 from England and France, but not so small a loan as $15,000,000.

The government would not consider borrowing the larger sum, and nothing was accomplished. Had this big loan been authorized, he declared, the war would have ended in less than two years, with complete victory for the Southern Confederacy.

"RALEIGH BOYS IN ARMY"

Subject of Memorial Day Address by Secretary of State Grimes.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Raleigh, N. C., May 10.—Memorial Day opened here under cold and with lowering clouds that constrained the women in charge of the dinner to the old soldiers to hesitate about spreading the feast out on the lawn in Capital Square. However, the clouds lifted considerably and the dinner was spread on the lawn and greatly enjoyed by the veterans. This was the first feature of the day. The veterans assembled at their armory at noon and marched to the square. At dinner a big parade was formed under the direction of Dr. W. C. Riddick, of the A. and M. College, as chief marshal, and the march began to the cemetery for the address of the day and the decoration of the graves of the Confederate dead.

In line were the old soldiers, the regimental and the Agriculture and Mechanical College bands, the A. & M. cadets, the local military organizations, the Boy Scouts and many citizens in carriages and automobiles. At the cemetery Dr. Riddick, as master of ceremonies, introduced Colonel J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of the State, as the orator of the day. His theme was "The Raleigh Boys in the Confederate Army." He told of the four fine companies that Raleigh put into the field and of the nineteen additional companies that Wake County provided for the "Lost Cause" and then paid special tribute to twenty-five or more individual Raleigh men, who distinguished themselves by service. He told of the enormous manufacture of Confederate uniforms here, there having been a stock of $2,000 suits on hand at one time ready for distribution to the men at the front. There was the making of powder in large quantities, the making of spurs, and other equipment. The address was full of most interesting features, and was listened to intently.

Memorial Day at Wilmington.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Wilmington, N. C., May 10.—Confederate Memorial Day was beautifully observed here today, and regardless of the day being Saturday, all public buildings were closed and so were many business houses during the time of the exercises at Oakdale Cemetery. A stirring address by Rev. W. H. Mil-voice, pastor of the Episcopal Church, was heard by a large assemblage. The Daughters of the Confederacy, Children of the Confederacy Veterans and military organizations attended.

Day is Generally Observed.

Charlotte, N. C., May 10.—Confederate Memorial Day was generally observed throughout the State today by dinners to the veterans, addresses, parades and other ceremonies. In this city Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, widow of the Confederate chief, who resides here, pinned crosses of honor on Confederate veterans. At Asheville, Mrs. Z. B. Vance, widow of North Carolina's war Governor, was presented with a cross of honor, her distinguished husband never having been given one of these mementos during his lifetime.

EIGHTEEN YEARS IN PENITENTIARY.

William White Found Guilty of Murdering Stepmother.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Charlottesville, Va., May 10.—After a trial lasting two days, a jury in the Circuit Court rendered a verdict of murder in the second degree in the case of William White, colored, charged with the murder of his stepmother, Louis Spears, fixing the punishment of the prisoner at eighteen years in the State Penitentiary.

The killing of Spears occurred on January 4 last, but the body was not found until about the middle of February. His disappearance from the community was noticed and but poorly explained by his wife, who is White's mother. Finally the peculiar conduct of the woman and her son in filling up a dry well on the place aroused suspicion, and when the rubbish was removed from the well the body of Spears was found at the bottom, pierced in three places with bullet holes.

At the trial Viola Young, a cook at the jail, told the jury that one of White's lawyers had visited the jail and consulted with the prisoner in the courtyard, and that from an upper window in the sheriff's house he heard White confess to his lawyer that he had shot Spears while in the house, and that he fired one shot into him from behind as his stepfather attempted to run and

SWEDISH FOLK-DANCE BY NORMAL STUDENTS

Spectacular Event Precedes Regular May Day Exercises at Fredericksburg School.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Fredericksburg, Va., May 10.—The folk dance, a beautiful and spectacular event, was held in the gymnasium of the Fredericksburg State Normal School this morning. Five classes entered the contest. It was the Swedish "Folk Dance" (Trallan). The judges were Misses Kate Doggett, Louise Niede and Sarah Izard. The dancing was judged on four points, each being of equal value, namely, memory, technique, spirit and grace. A great deal of spirit and enthusiasm was manifested. All of the girls in the contests came in body, dressed in white, wearing scarves of their class colors, and applauding of their classmates. The judges awarded their decision as follows: Senior class, first; first-year class, second; second-year class, third. The decision of the student body, and the winners were greeted with outbursts of applause upon the announcement of the decision.

The remaining athletic events in the athletic class contests took place today. The general public was not invited to these exercises, but the women of the town were welcomed.

The public May-day exercises took place at the school in the grove, beginning at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The public was invited to these exercises. These exercises were spectacular and beautiful. The winners in the various athletic contests were as follows: The May-day song was sung, the May-day dance danced, and the outdoor play was staged, and the silver cup was delivered to the winners. The program was as follows:

1. Processional. May-pole dance. Queen and maid. Classes in order with class colors. 2. Crowning queen. 3. May song, written by Rev. J. R. Jacobs. 4. May-pole dance by all classes. 5.
